MONTGOMERY COUNTY'S OLD SELMA FARM ADDED TO ALABAMA REGISTER OF LANDMARKS & HERITAGE

The Alabama Historical Commission (AHC) recently added Old Selma Farm near Montgomery to the Alabama Register of Landmarks & Heritage.

The Alabama Register is a prestigious listing of historic, architectural, and archaeological landmarks. The AHC considers the notable historic properties in this register to be particularly worthy of preservation and appreciation, and therefore deserving of this special recognition.

Old Selma Farm is listed in the Alabama Register for its architectural and agricultural significance. "It is a good, intact example of a Colonial Revival residence and farm complex with its original outbuildings that dates from 1942," said Lee Anne Wofford, Alabama Register Coordinator for the Alabama Historical Commission.

According to Pat Wolfe who submitted the nomination, the property consists of a main residence, guest house, garage, chicken house, stable, and hay barn. The current owners raise goats, chickens, and calves.

The Alabama Historical Commission administers the Alabama Register program, which gives the public a simple way to bring recognition to historic properties.

The Alabama Register officially recognizes and honors buildings, sites, structures, objects, and historic districts that are at least 40 years old.

The Alabama Register designation is honorary and carries no restrictions on property and offers no financial incentives.

*To protect, preserve, and interpret Alabama's historic places is the mission of the Alabama Historical Commission, the State Historic Preservation Office.
